To "My dear Miss Southey," Keswick.

[Leyden.] Her family and herself have been suffering from a fever prevalent in Leyden. Feels some trepidation at undertaking to write in English, being more accustomed to the French language. Appreciates the gift of a volume of Henry Kirke White's poems: names him as her favorite poet next to Southey. Is glad that she is considered a true friend of the Southey family because of her her happy recollection of the time which Southey spent in her country. A.L.S. 3p. 10 x 8 1/2 in.

Legation of the United States, St. Petersburg, (Russia). The writer says he was introduced to Miss Field about ten years ago. Says he cannot comply the the request in her letter concerning "our Representatives abroad." Adds that his life has not been sufficiently eventful to interest the world, but if the public should clamor for his biography, he would ask her to write it.

No.26

«Piotou(?)» The gist of the letter is that Mrs.McPhail has made up a basket for the A.S. fair, which the writer requests the addressee to give to Miss Anne W. Weston. The writer has copied from "a paper with directions", given him by his wife, a description of the wigwam and group of Indians which the basket contains.

Pictou, N.S.. The writer says she has been completely absorbed by the Abolition movement. Has had little success in persuading her neighbors to contribute to the cause. Her husband and herself have withdrawn from their church. Says that the unorthodox opinions of the Abolitionists have been an obstacle. Thinks the Anti-Slavery movement has been of great benefit to women. "In Britain the total abstinence reform will place its adherents in the position with regard to the Sectarian Churches, in which Antislavery has placed you in respect to the American Church." Mentions the opposition of Dr. Wardlaw to the Temperance movement. Tells of an occasion on which she opposed capital punishment. The Hue and Cry of infidelity raised in Scotland against the New England Abolitionists has

The writer's youngest daughter, Rosalind, who has been here several years, taking care of the orphan children of her elder brother, is about to return to England and is to sail from Boston, where the writer hopes she may see the addressee. The writer had hoped to see his friends James and Lucretia Mott, but was told he would not be able to stand the heat of Philadelphia. It is nearly sixty years since he devoted himself to the anti-slavery cause.

To Miss Field

Los Angeles, Cal.. "I do hope you are getting health from your exile..." The writer can't imagine Miss Field away from a cable. Says she minded the lack of modern communications greatly on a trip to Nassau. Thinks the departure from her normal surroundings will be a great strain on Miss Field. Wrote to a friend named McLean, asking him to act as Miss Field's escort. Says she is "resigned" to living in Los Angeles. Likes ocean travel.
